Visual principles

- Warm over glossy
- Real groups over posed couples
- Simple over cluttered
- Campus + city energy over luxury dating

Imagery + usage rules

Imagery

- Golden-hour or evening lighting
- 3-5 students together, candid and moving
- Campus paths, patios, city streets, bonfires
- Natural smiles, layered outfits, warmth

Do

- Use red as the hero color.
- Keep layouts spacious and readable.
- Let campfire accents support the brand.

Don't

- Add gradients, bevels, or stretched logo use.
- Use neon dating-app clichés or nightclub vibes.
- Make the product feel busy or over-designed.

Feedback:

- Problem: Difficult for students to relate to wording which isn't made for them
- Problem: Overall not visually appealing. Suggestion: Don't make it transparent after that video, the visual should be by the header only (the video), it should be a section with our own appealing colours
- Problem: Users lack trust in the founders (who are they?). Suggestion: Include founder's universities
- Problem: Countdown is slightly boring to look at
- Problem: The user doesn't know what Yuni is from the first page. Suggestion: Update slogan on the first page to "The group dating app for university students"
- Problem: Iphone many buttons/features are off centered. Suggestion: Fix the logo and "scroll to explore" on first page to be in centered
- Problem: Description is not specific enough. Suggestion: Remove the "The app that wants you to delete it" entirely. Remove the "154 on waitlist 5 universities 2026 launch. For now. Use (https://ditto.ai/) as an example.
